

Those who move and find hope/purpose

Tetiana holds a single piece of paper in her hands. After nine years, the print has begun to fade. But she's holding onto it tightly, not just because it reminds her of home, but also because it represents her long journey to safety.

Born in 1975 to Ukrainian parents in Germany, she moved to eastern Ukraine, aged five, with her family. Forced to flee Ukraine, Tetiana carried hope with her – across borders and uncertainty.
